TARIFF REFORM.

A Rousing Meeting at Owsley in its Interests.

Addresses By Congressman Tarsney, Senator Sparks and Others.

Knobbooster, Aug. 17.—(Special to the BAZOO)—To-day four hundred farmers, with their wives, sons and daughters, congregated in a beautiful grove, one half mile west of Owsley post office and ten miles east of Knobbooster, to participate in a picnic and discuss a tariff reform, under the auspices of the Owsley Tariff Reform club of Johnson county. The audience numbered between one thousand and twelve hundred persons. The meeting was of vast importance to the democratic party as it is the beginning of a series of meetings throughout this and the neighboring congressional districts a considerable number of republicans gathered in to hear the discussion and see the effect on the people.

At 11:30 o'clock, Senator E. P. Sparks of the Seventeenth district was introduced to the audience and for one hour and fifteen minutes held the closest attention of his hearers in a well spoken address. He picked the bubble of protection and left it a collapsed ruin.

After dinner, of which there was enough for one more thousand than partook, Major John C. Tarsney, congressman of the Fifth District was introduced and for two hours held the audience spell-bound. He explained the prime object of the tariff and the reasons for the high tariff of the United States. He asked the audience to forget they were republicans and democrats and listen to him as business men discussing business problems. And then followed the most clear, concise and logical anti-tariff argument ever heard in Johnson county. The republicans idea of protection to infant industries, he said, was a fallacy, but were it not, why should an "infant" industry be protected after it was old enough to have a full crop of gray whiskers. He showed how the republicans repudiated their platform of '84, and said that a less number of righteous republicans were found in congress to vote for a genuine tariff reform, than the Lord demanded in Sodom to save the town from destruction.

The famous campaign cry of 1888, "Protection to American labor" was loudly reiterated but instead of protecting labor, it only protected those who employed the laborer. Mr. Tarsney then went on and reviewed the question in all its bearings and finished with an able plea for tariff reform more especially on the actual necessities of life.

At 5 p. m. after giving both orators cheers which made the woods ring, the honest farmers of Jefferson township and vicinity went home impressed with the idea that the democratic view is the true road to prosperity for the laboring classes as well as the country at large, and that Grover Cleveland's policy of 1888 will be the winning platform of 1892.

CENTRAL BUSINESS COLLEGE

SEDALIA, MO.

—List of graduates in the above named institution for the past year, in commercial course: M. M. Howry, Cole Camp, Mo.; J. W. Jones, Lincoln, Mo.; Elsie Menefee, Sedalia, Mo.; Alonzo School, Gailley, Mo.; B. P. Richardson, Windsor, Mo.; T. Atchinson, Tyler, Texas; S. Beckner, Tuscania, Mo.; Alex Anderson, Freeman, Mo.; D. R. Williams, Dawn, Mo.; Lillie Dieter, Oak Hill, Kan.; J. H. Smith, Parsons, Kan.

—Short-hand and type writing department —E. L. Mayo, Hillsdale, Kansas; Susie Jones, Glasco, Kansas; Ella Meek, Butler, Mo.; G. M. Huntsinger, Star Valley, Kan. Nearly all of these pupils who have been through the course any length of time have good paying positions. Some of them have just graduated and are now open for engagements. Anyone desiring book-keepers or clerks will find good material in our school from which to select.

—Several new pupils have entered this month for twelve month terms. Mr. I. S. Percell from Piqua, Kan., has started in with us for twelve months in the business course.

—W. H. Lynn, near Atchison, Kas., has also entered for twelve months. These young gentlemen are doing good work in the business course. They have a good start and have come to complete the course thoroughly.

—Mr. Clavie Bright, Sweet Springs, Mo. was a student in Central Business College for a year or more, and now returns to take a year in the penmanship department. Clavie is Bright, and we hope to see him "drive the quill" vigorously and successfully for the next twelve months.

—We are glad to inform Mr. Huntsinger's friends that he will be in the city tomorrow. Mr. H. has accepted a position in the M., K. & T., offices as stenographer. He is only 16-years of age, and graduated in four months in our shorthand and type-writing course, and has now accepted a position of fifty dollars per month.

—Persons desiring to room students, two in a room, at fifty cents each per week, will please leave their names at the college.

—Acute and chronic rheumatism can be effectually and permanently cured by the use of Hibbard's Rheumatic Syrup and Plasters. W. E. Bard, druggist.

THE FAIR.

The Entries are Numerous in Every Department.

A Grand Display and a Big Success Assured.

Secretary Burr, of the Fair association, and assistants are as busy as bees registering the entries and getting ready for the big fair next week. Heretofore the permanent stalls have been more than enough to contain the stock entries, but this year the demand has been so great that 75 new ones were erected, and still that addition was found not enough as the last one was engaged yesterday. A force of carpenters has been set to work at building 80 more. The entries in every department are crowding the capacity of the grounds to their fullest extent, but none of the departments except the speed ring have been closed yet. The speed ring entries are as follows:

All those taking part in the Trades Procession will report to their respective division commander at 7:30 sharp. Procession will positively move at 8 o'clock sharp. Those living on the line of march will please illuminate.

Mr. Bard received the following telegram yesterday in regard to the costumes, which explains itself:

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 17.
W. E. Bard, Chairman Puck's Moguls, Sedalia, Mo.:

Costume leaves here Monday morning with four hundred costumes. Whooop the boys up. School boys suits all right.

A report somehow got into circulation that the Mogul parade was to take place Tuesday night, and if allowed to go uncorrected may cause confusion. The great trades parade will take place Tuesday night, Aug. 20th, and Puck's Moguls on Thursday night, Aug. 22.

One of the interesting exhibits will be the display made by various merchants. Among those making extra preparations are the D. H. Smith Hardware Co., Igenfritz Hardware Co., John Wamsley & Co., carpets; Kelk Bros., carriages, and Cloney Bros. hardware.

The directors met at the fair grounds yesterday afternoon and closed a contract with the Sedalia band for the music for the parades Tuesday and Thursday nights and during the fair.

They also made arrangements with the Missouri Pacific to run a special from Jefferson City on Tuesday arriving here at 11:15 a. m. returning at midnight.

The remainder of the afternoon was occupied with arranging general details in the various departments. Mr. Bard the Chief Mogul of Puck's Mogul parade for Thursday night is fast getting that part of the great show in shape. It will be a brilliant affair.

THE CARNIVAL.

A Talk With Puck—A Million Masked Merry Makers From Fairy-land

And Hobgoblins From Below to Mix With Our People and Hold High Carnival.

For the benefit of the public, a BAZOO reporter determined to find out the object of the organization under the management of Puck, who, be it known, is a celebrated mischief-making fairy called "the merry wanderer of the night." After great difficulty and the most solemn promises not to divulge the deep secrets of this mystic order, the reporter was permitted to be present at one of its orgies in which the earthly members composing it held communion with sprites and elfin goblins. Some things of dark and dreadful portent there were learned which, under the deep seal of secrecy imposed, the reporter dare not make known. These things he can not impart for fear of the dreadful threat of Puck himself on pain that, if he breathed a hint of what he saw, his bridle cow should, until the moon thrice waxed and waned, yield most bloody milk.

Puck gave the information for the public that on Thursday night during the fair, in view of the high honor paid to Oberon and Titania, king and queen of the fairies, in illuminating the streets, these royal personages, with all their train of attendants, would make a visit to earth, and would expect certain preparations to be made by mortals for their reception. Only those obeying their instructions given to their mundane vice regent would be permitted or able to see the visitors from Fairyland.

The representative of these ethereal beings, who, it seems, appears upon earth only at night, it is not permitted to name or even to intimate his identity, although he is a citizen well known to all. In fact, he plies his daily avocation on Main street, where he mixes various compounds and decoctions which he is supposed to have learned from his strange friends. When asked what preparations were expected upon the part of all the people, this pleasant and smooth faced gentleman said in reply:

The object is just this, we expect to make this year and every succeeding year the night of Thursday during the fair what shall be known as Carnival Night. It is desired that everybody old and young be upon the illuminated streets that night, but all are requested to wear some fantastic costume and be masked. Our organization has ordered two hundred costumes from St. Louis which we will don on that occasion. We particularly wish everybody to put on some disguise, however cheap or simple, even if it be no more than a sheet and false face.

Everyone coming from the country and from a distance is asked to comply with this request, although it is not required. The visitors from Lamonte, Green Ridge, Georgetown and all the surrounding towns in this and adjoining counties are expected to bring their masquerade costumes with them and already some organizations have been perfected for that purpose in some of these towns. Mayor John D. Crawford will issue his proclamation requesting every one to masquerade, when he asks that all business be suspended on Thursday. No horses or vehicles will be allowed upon these streets and no horns or noises are desired above low tinkling bells and it is expected that Ohio street from Main to fifth streets as well as all the other illuminated streets shall present the appearance of one vast fancy-dress ball.

And said Puck, on parting, "every person masked shall have the privilege of speaking to any other masked person provided perfect politeness and good humor is preserved. And it shall not be permissible for any person to unmask under any circumstances whatever." "If however," said he, "mark you, if I should clamber to some high steeple and three times toll in rapid succession some large bell in your town then every one must instantly unmask. But I have not yet said that I shall do so, nor do I know yet whether I will, and should I not do so no one must unmask, and any person disobeying these injunctions shall for the balance of his or her span of life receive at every midnight a visit from Abracadabra. Now let every man, woman and child obey our commands!"

Therefore the BAZOO would advise all to comply with the orders thus issued by PUCK, and foremost in the procession will be found Big Injun.

COMMERCIAL TRAVELERS.

Their Success in Securing Membership and Hotel Concessions.

St. Louis, August 16.—Since the National convention in June the commercial travelers of St. Louis have been working hard to secure to themselves and the wholesale merchants who employ them the substantial benefits for the attainment of which the Travelers' Protective association was organized. Three months ago Missouri had a smaller membership than any division in the country, being less than 100. Through the exertions of General Manager J. C. Van Pelt, of Louisville, who came here after President Geo. S. McGrew has succeeded in interesting the merchants and travelers in the organization, the membership has been increased to nearly 1000, with an annual income of nearly $3000, to use in securing concessions from hotels, railroads, etc. This makes the Missouri division the largest and richest in the country. In nearly every case the wholesale merchants have put in their traveling men as members, the firm paying the dues. During the past two weeks Mr. H. Scooter, chairman of the local hotel committee, assisted by Mr. H. A. Hirschberg, of Richmond, Va., chairman of the National Hotel committee, have made contracts with over 100 hotels and livery stables in Missouri, Illinois, Arkansas, Kansas and Iowa—most of them being in Missouri—giving lower rates to members of the association than given to others. In every town where such contracts have been made the member saves from 50c to $1 a day by these concessions. In most cases 25c to 50c is deducted for board per day, fires and sample rooms are given free, bus fare reduced from 50c to 25c and rates for teams cut down.

To-morrow afternoon the railroad committee will meet the local railroad passenger agents to discuss the 5000-mile proposition. President McGrew recently sent out circulars to the wholesale merchants asking how many tickets they could use within the next thirty days. From answers received so far it appears that near 300 tickets amounting to about $30,000 could be disposed of to St. Louis merchants within the next month, and replies not yet received may extend this amount considerably. The prospects for the adoption of the ticket by the railroads running out of St. Louis are said to be very encouraging.
